

CCHBA Photo Contest Rules - 2020

The subject of the photo must be related to honey bees or beekeeping activities. For example, it can be a photo of a beekeeper or beekeepers, a honey bee yard, a close-up of a single bee or many bees, a truck transporting bees, installing packages, harvesting honey, doing a hive check, beehive removal, swarm trap, or other bee-related activity.

Photograph clarity is important, as it needs to be in focus, clear and crisp when expanded to the size of 8"x10". You can test the quality yourself by printing the picture on a full-size sheet of photo paper. If it's blurry or unclear to you, it would be blurry in the calendar.

Photos should be oriented horizontally (landscape mode, instead of like a portrait). Think about how the screen on your TV or at a movie theatre looks; the calendar lay-out is the same.

You may send in as many pictures as you like, but only one photo per subject, please. In other words, if you've got several pictures of someone uncapping frames while harvesting honey, pick the best shot and send it in. That will be your honey harvest photo. Then, pick your best close-up of a bee on a flower, your best picture of a swarm on a tree, your favorite shot of your neighbor being chased by bees... and so on.

One photo per email, please. In the subject line, write a brief title for the photo. Within the email, include the photographer's name and, of course, the photograph!

By entering the contest, you are granting permission for CCHBA to use your photo(s) for club purposes.

Email each individual photo entry to: Photocontest@CCHBA.org

Deadline: July 31st at midnight (the end of July 31st as it turns to August 1st)! Any photos received after midnight will not be considered.
